

Majestic Dining at Boston's Back Bay

Smith & Wollensky's Boston Back Bay steakhouse is one of the city's premier dining destinations. Guests may indulge their senses and sense of history in this restaurant gallantly built inside a historic stone and brick castle once headquarters for the First Corps of Cadets.

Located at 101 Arlington St., this spectacular steakhouse offers its famous signature steaks, refined service and superior atmosphere within luxurious rooms featuring balconies, high ceilings and working fireplaces. Each room is filled with fascinating antiques and artifacts to create a unique setting for a memorable evening.

The Battle Room is adorned with Reconstruction Era artifacts and features a large bar and windows overlooking the vibrant city. It is one of the most coveted locations for large parties in the Boston area. The Eagle Room has large windows, as well, and showcases examples of Early American military attire and a unique antique map cabinet. Both the Library Room and the Wine Room are located in the turret of the castle.

For an exclusive experience, the first floor gunroom, social hall and museum floor have been converted into the main dining room.

A majestic setting and extraordinary menu help create unforgettable moments at Smith & Wollensky's Boston Back Bay steakhouse.

The restaurant is open seven days a week for dinner from 5:00 to 10:00 p.m. with the bar opening at 4:00 p.m. each day. Private events and groups can be arranged at any time.
